

Widely Known Washington Matrons and Some of Their Charming Children

Mrs. Medill McCormick, wife of the Senator from Illinois, with Katrina and Medill, Jr.

Alexander Hohenlohe, son of the Prince and Princess Hohenlohe. Before her marriage the Princess was Miss Catherine Britten.

Madame Hubrecht, wife of Dr. J. B. Hubrecht, secretary of the Dutch Legation, and their three children: Marcus, Mlle. Julia and Dan. All are popular in the diplomatic set.

Above—Miss Petrina Jackson, granddaughter of Joseph Fordney of Michigan, is a favorite junior in Congressional circles.

Wells Lewis, son of Sinclair Lewis, the author, will pass the winter with dad in Washington.

In the Cabinet set this daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Breckinridge Long is a decided pet.

Esther, Kenneth and Wilbur are the very Occidental names of these three children of Dr. Philip Sze, director of the Chinese Educational Mission in Washington.

Mrs. Harry Harwood Rousseau, wife of the Rear-Admiral, with their children, Henry, William and Bard Rousseau.

Photographs on this page. Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.